

Graph-representable Submodular Functions

Submodular functions are functions with specific properties. We attempt to find the class of submodular energy functions which can be represented in terms of a graph. This will help us in knowing the class of Markov Random Field models which can be efficiently solved using graph cuts.